"Pulses?!"

Did you know that dry peas, lentils, chickpeas and beans are all called pulses?

They grow right here in the United States!
Farmers in California, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Washington, Idaho, Oregon – and many more – grow all different varieties of pulses.

Pulses are Grown from Coast to Coast

usapulses.org/schools